Father and Five Children Suffered for Two Years With Terrible Eczema - Home Remedies and Medicines Gave No Relief-Mother Expresses Joy at

WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My husband and five children were all afflicted with eczema. They had it two years. We used all the home remedies we could hear of, without any relief, and then went to a physician and got medicine two different times, and it got worse. It affected us all over except head and hands. We saw Cuticura Remedies advertised and concluded to try them. So I sent for $1.00 worth, consisting of one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Ointment, and one vial of Fills, and we commenced to use them. I do not know how to express my joy in finding a cure, for two of my children were so bad that they have the brown sears on their bodies where they were sore. If it will be of any benefit to you, you can publish my letter with pleasure. Yours truly, Mrs. Maggie B. Hill, Stevens, Mason Co., W. Va., June 12, 1905."

CUTICURA A BLESSING To Skin-Tortured Babies and Tired Mothers.

The suffering which Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have alleviated among the young, and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents, have led to their adoption in parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless curatives for birth humors, milk crust, scalled head, eczemas, rashes, and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin, and scalp humors, with loss of hair, of infancy and childhood. BRING HOME SEEKERS.

Nothing Will Build Up a Community Like Good Roads.

The commercial bodies, the railroads of the solid and substantial home seek-ing element and bring them here as the foundation of the world, but manicause them to stay more than good phrase "This man" of verse 14, such roads, said a speaker at the Oregon good roads convention.

The Willamette valley would have had more than double its present population had more attention been given to this subject. Real estate men in all parts of this valley will tell you that in many cases they have located good farmers from the older states, but on account of bad roads and the utter impossibility to get around, the women folks got homesick and blue and urged their husbands to go back to the old sionally to see their neighbors or to go to church in comfort.

In speaking of good roads I also roads for the pedestrian, the buggy, the wagon, the bicycle and the automobile. The modern idea of laying out an addition or improving a given section of any city is most successful when the streets and sidewalks are built in advance, and in making such improvements the real estate owner not only gets a profit on the land he has for sale, but he gets a profit upon the improvements he makes, and he is entitled to it. The investor or home seek er who gets into such an addition or locality shows good sense because he knows he does not have to depend upon his neighbors or the municipal government.

HIGHWAY LEAGUES.

How the Farmers of Illinois Will Steps have been taken by the Illinois highway commission to organize the farmers of the state into leagues for the maintenance and improvement of the public highways, says the Motor News. Several leagues have already been organized.

The Illinois highway commission was created by the last general assembly and has taken up in earnest the work of improving the roads throughout the Nearly $5,000,000 is spent annually in Illinois in maintaining highways and bridges. The aim of the commission is to improve the roads without adding extra expense to the About 95 per cent of the public highways in Illinois are earth roads. A. N. Johnson of Springfield, the engineer of the commission, has given special attention to this class of roads, and he asserts that they can be greatly improved by "dragging" at a merely ominal expense to the farmers.

When the farmers' leagues are organized and the work placed on a systematic basis it is proposed by the commission to have all the farmers in and share His sufferings now and glo a certain section turn out and drag ry hereafter or, rejecting Him, as the the roads when they are wet and in the Jews and Pilate and Herod did, have proper condition. The method which has been found to work satisfactorily in Iowa and Missourl consists in dragging heavy logs along the highways at a slight angle, throws the soft mud or clay toward the center of the road. The logs are about nine feet in length, with a flattened surface.

Why Roads Should Be Improved. There are many striking examples of the value of good roads. Wherever roads have been permanently improved it is found that there has been a very great increase in value of the adjacent property, says the Good Roads Magazine. Among examples of this sort is that of Jackson, Tean. From figures recently published it is shown that in population. The roads were improved through issuing bonds to start with, and they have advertised the city so much that families are constantly coming in from adjoining counties, with the result that land values have increased in some cases from 20 to 100 per cent. Property in the city has also greatly increased in value.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IX, FOURTH QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, DEC. 2.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xxiii, 13-25. Memory Verses, 20, 21-Golden Text, Luke xxiii, 21 - Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns

(Copyright, 1996, by American Press Association.)
What a sight this was to make angels wonder and weep, the Holy Son of God arrested as a malefactor and hounded from one human tribunal to another, with no semblance of justice, no one to plead His cause and subjected to every possible cruel indignity, and all by those who professed to be the chosen people of God! We might feel like saying that such a thing could not happen anywhere on earth in this enlightened twentieth century. But listen to this from the speech of Judge Stafford at the mass meeting on behalf of the Jews held at Washington on Jan. 21, 1906: "A Russian to hate a Jew! Think of it. On the walls of his vast cathedrals he carves the figures of the twelve apostles and every one of them a Jew. He enters and prostrates himself before the picture of a Hebrew child in the arms of a Hebrew mother. He mutters a creed that declares a Jew to be the Son of God, the Saviour of the world, then he goes out and kills the first Jew he meets because he is a Jew." It is said that within two years more than 100,000 Jews. Poles, Finns and Armenians, nelpless and defenseless men, women and children, have been barbarously murdered and butchered to make a Russian holiday. There has been nothing like it in all the history of the world (William Sulzer). Why do I quote from these speeches? Simply to show that the whole world light in the wicked one (I John v, 19) and is just as beastly in the twentieth century as in the first century, when Christ was crucified, and there is no hope but in the return of this same Jesus Christ to break in pieces the nations and take the government of earth into His own hands and reign in righteousness. If we are now identified with Him, if we have been redeemed by His precious blood we must be willing to follow in His steps. Note how they lied against Him and laid to His charge things He knew not (verses 2, 5), but this was foreseen and foretold in Ps. xxxv, 14. See Pilate's testimony to His innocence in verses 4, 14, 22, and compare the testimony of Judas Iscariot and of Pilate's wife in Matt. xxvil. 4, 19. Then hear the testimony of God the Father, "This is My Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleasand the newspapers are bending every ed" (Matt. iii, 17; xvii, 5), and add the possible effort to secure immigration, Spirit's word through Peter concern in other words, to attract the attention ing Him, "A Lamb without blemish home makers and there is no one thing fest in these last times for us" (I Pet. i, 19, 20). Gather a few texts around the as Heb. x, 12; Acts xlii, 38, 39; Luke xv. 1, 2, and emphasize to all that there is only one Man with whom we have to do, but we must each for himself have to do with Him and answer your life and the full control of it Ooo ton battleship Uncle Sam enter the (John i, 12; Rom. vi, 11, 13). Filate found no fault in Him, and the most gigantic engineering enter-yet he says, "I will chastise Him." Oh, the cruelty and injustice of it all! Yet the word for us is, Do well and suffer for it and take it patiently (1 Pet, 11, 20); walk as He walked (I John 11, 6). In speaking of good roads I also mean to include good sidewalks and good streets. In order to secure prosperity and happiness either in the city, town or country, we must have good choose to have Jesus released sage to a receiving instrument on top rather than such a one, but the multitude, being persuaded by the chief priests and elders, demanded the release of Barabbas and that Jesus should be crucified. We need not think it strange if in our day the multitude choose a bad man rather than a good plies, but haste is imperative.' one for some important office, for the devil is unchanged and he is generally back of the crowd, pushing them on.

See how the voices of the multitude and of the chief priests prevailed (verse 23) and observe the source of the motto that the voice of the people is the voice of God. So the murderer was set free and the Holy One was delivered to their will (verse 25) to be reviled, mocked, crowned with thorns, smitten, spit upon, crucified. Thus we see sinful man's treatment of the only Living and True God. How can any one doubt the truth of the testimony of the Spirit in Rom. vili, 7, "The carnal mind is enmity against God." How fearful the curse which the Jews brought upon their posterity when they cried, "His blood be on us and on our children" (Matt. xxvii, 25). Can we doubt but that even to this day they suffer because of it? It would seem from our Lord's own words in Matt. xxiv, 21, 29, 30, that the worst sufferings of Israel will be in their own land and immediately preceding the coming of Christ in glory for their deliverance. See also Zech. xiv, 1-5. Consider Pilate's words in John xix, 6, 15, "Behold the man," "Behold your king," and compare Zech xiii, 7; ix. 9, "My shepherd, the man that is my fellow,' "Behold, the king cometh unto thee." Back of all the sin of man and in spite of the wrath of man and of the devil and his demons it is most restful and uplifting to see God working out His eternal purpose (Acts iv, 26-28). It is for each one who hears the gospel to say whether he will receive Christ Jesus as his Saviour and Lord from me, ye cursed, into everlasting

AMERICAN ART.

It is an encouraging theory that all mportant art epochs have been preeded by epochs of great wealth, and it may well be that the present multi plication of large fortunes will be the foundation of a more ideal condition of society, affording, as these fortunes undertakings, as did those of Genoa and Venice. And while it would be insensate folly to fill our museums exclusively with work by Americans, it is more and more to be expected that our artists will profit by the showing they make in such collections as the com parative exhibition of a few years ago in which they held their own with for eign masters of the same departments. The first way, therefore, to help American art is to buy worthy pictures by American artists. Our rich menparticularly our new recruits in this lass-should bear in mind that an exhibition of, let us say, the Society of American Artists, has as high a standard of admittance as the Parls Salon and is likely to contain less trash, and that, purely as a matter of investment, to urge no higher motive, it pays to buy the best American work.

Another way for those who wish by their wealth to add to the pleasure of their countrymen is to give or bequeath a portion of it to a museum for the encouragement of native art, and to be watching two big machines racing of the highest efficiency such a benealong a country road, when all at once faction should be without condition. And now it was the white man's Thanksgiving day, as the railroad agent (the entire popula-tion) at Broken Ridge had informed the chief. Excepting Uncle Sam's salt pork and canned beans there was little to eat on the reservation. Spotted Horsetail was disgusted.

"Whoop! HI-yi-yi!" yelled three young braves, riding in at a wild gallop from the railroad. Their faces were smeared with what an eastern tender foot would have called war paint, but in truth it was California raspberry jam, orange marmalade, molasses and

"Heap big eat!" yelled the riders.

'White man's dinner!" In three minutes every buck Navajo was mounted and off toward the railroad, followed by the women and children afoot. Near Broken Ridge a loose rail had thrown ten freight cars off the delicious fruits, fresh and canned, of southern California, bound for the east. When the cars rolled down the em bankment they broke open.

Spotted Horsetail's band gulped down whole cans of strawberry preserves. They fished into big tins of sugary peaches and swallowed the fruit whole, like large raw oysters. They drank the maple sirup as if it were firewater, and the raspberry jam went the way of all sweets. Whole bottles of olive oil added to the tur moil in their stomachs.

By nightfall 267 Indians were stretch ed upon the Arizona sod, out of com mission. They were exceedingly sick at the stomach. An ambulance train from the nearest division town summoned by the Broken Ridge agent by wire brought a score of doctors.

And every day for six weeks thereafter came Spotted Horsetall and a "We was drifting northwest all this dusk. Finally a freight train slowed time, and by the time we had skun and up one day, and the head brakeman
